

Supplementary Figure 1

Supplementary Figure 1: Representative NTA traces of isolated and washed platelet preparations obtained in 3 independent experiments (blue: isolated, red: washed). The reproducibility of the NTA patterns among the different independent preparations are shown. Independent platelet preparations displayed a similar position for the major peak (around 120 nm). The peaks observed at substantially higher sizes display a broader size distribution and appear to be more donor-dependent.